RELAY BICYCLE RIDE.

The Postponed Event Will Come Off To-Day Unless There Is a Cyclone.

The relay bicycle ride, which was to have been run several weeks ago, and which was postponed on account of bad weather and roads, will be run to-day. The start will be made from Springfield, Ill., this morning, at 9 o'clock, and the riders will start in the various directions assigned them, carrying messages of greet ing from the Governor of their State to those of the five States surrounding it. The one to Governor Matthews will reach this city about midnight to-night, should the men be on time, and it is even probable that it will get here sooner than that. With the message for him will be the one to the Governor of Kentucky, and it will be hurried on from here without the loss of an instant's time. The relays will meet in this city directly in front of the Statebouse, and will there give the Kentucky pouch to the relieving riders, and the Indiana one will then be taken to the residence of Governor Matthews, No. 273 North Illinois street.

From Rockville, Ind., to Saymour, by the way of this city, the messages will be in charge of Indianapolis riders, under the immediate direction of Captain Fisher, of the Zigzag Club. The distance which they will traverse will be about 180 miles, and is divided into relays of from ten to fifteen miles each, and the schedule allows about five minutes to each mile. At least two and sometimes four men will ride on each relay, so that some idea of the number of riders that it will take for the entire run can be gained. The management of the entire run is in the hands of A. A. Billingsley, vice consul of Illinois. Only members of the L. A. W. are allowed to ride in it, and its purpose is to demonstrate the speed which can be acquired by riders at long distances. It has already been shown that they can make reasonably good headway against the odds of rain and mud, and as speed is the only thing wanted in the present one, it was determined to postpone until the conditions of the weather should be favorable. Should everything remain as it is now nothing better could be asked for, except that there will be no moon. The weather is not so warm as to impede fast work, and the roads all along the route are reported to be in excellent condition.

Writers of World-Wide Fame Will Participate in the Press Club's Entertainment.

Mr. Sherley will read a "curtain raiser" entitled "The Unposted Letter." The subjects of Mr. Kiley and Mr. Nicholson will be announced in a day or so. The entertainment will be given at the Grand Opera House. Tickets will be placed on sale next Monday morning. The prices for seats will be: Orchestra, 81; boxes, $1.50; balcony, 75 cents; gallery, 50 cents.

TO STOP THE DITCH SEWER

Testing the Validity of the New Law Regulating Sewer Assessments.

Case That Will Be Watched with Interest-Patchwork Paving on Michigan Street -Garbage Collection.

George G. Swain has brought suit against Leander A. Fulmer and others to enjoin them from collecting from him any assessment for the construction of the Stateditch sewer. Argument was heard by Judge Brown yesterday upon the points raised in the complaint. Swain attacks the constitutionality of the law which assesses property according to area instead of according to value. He avers in his complaint that the amendment to the city charter passed in February of this year is unconstitutional for that reason. He also disputes the right of the city to assess his property for this sewer, because his property does not abut upon it and he does not intend to make any connection with the sewer, for which reasons his property is not benefited and should not be assessed. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Brown.

Patchwork Paving. The city engineer yesterday sent out notices to the residents along Michigan street, from Indiana avenue to Blake street, to make their water and sewer connections, as work on the permanent improvement of the street was to be begun within a short time. The portion of this street which is to be paved lies west of Indiana avenue, and it will be wholly isolated from any other paved thoroughfare. This fact is causing a great deal of complaint among the people who will have to pay for it. They say that the board is going about this paving business without any head, and is ordering pavements put down without any regard to where or how the majority of the property owners would like it done. The resident property holders along Michigan street wanted the street paved, but when they petitioned for it it was with the understanding that Indiana avenue. as far as Michigan street, at least, was to be paved first. The board, however, has not considered the pavement of the former at all this year, and does not intend to do so.

To get to Michigan street it will be necessary to drive through the chuckholes and quagmires of the avenue or over the dirt beds of some of the more out-of-the-way streets, and their dirt and mud will be dragged upon the pavement to be more or dragged upon the pavement, to be more or less indifferently cleaned by the force which is now employed by the city.

George Werbe, who is employed in the assessment clerk's office, called on Engineer Mansfield yesterday and told him of the complaints which were coming from this district, and said that the matter ought to be brought to the attention of the Bids for Collecting Garbage. The Board of Public Works will open bids for the hauling of the city garbage the latter part of the week, at which time the contract for it will be let. The specifications for this work have already been published. It is expected that the plant for disposing of it will be in readiness for operation by the first of next month. Work on it is going forward, and those who build it say that it will be done at the specified time. The site is on the bank of the river, just back of Greenlawn Cemetery, and at the foot of Kentucky avenue.

McCarty-Street Paving. Notification has been sent to the residents of McCarty street, from High street to Virginia avenue, to make their sewer and water connections pending the immediate improvement of the street.

PARKER AND M'AFEE

Decked Out in New Straw Hats-McAfee's Father Visits Him at the Jail.

The shabby and greasy old hats which have adorned the condemned heads of Ed McAfee and John Parker were discarded yesterday afternoon for a couple of jaunty straw tiles, presented the prisoners by Harry Olmstead, a newspaper man, who, from a professional point of view, is interested in the two criminals. The negroes in their new hats strutted about among the balance of the petty prisoners yesterday evening in seeming better spirits than at any time since the verdict of the jury was read to them. There was a pitiful scene in the turnkey's office yesterday when Thomas McAfee, the old father of Edward McAfee, called to see his son. As in the case of the mother, on Monday, the elder man did not offer his hand to the prisoner, but talked to him with eyes streaming with tears. The old man is earnestly devout in his religious beliefs, and, after Ed had been removed from the office, conversed for some time on the sentence of the jury and the murder, He is convinced of the innocence of both men, and is hopeful of a new trial. Bert Black, the half brother of John Parker, was admitted to the jail yesterday evening with a basket of food for his brother. He was accorded a short interview, and cried a good deal, which had the effect of arousing the gloomy forebodings of the condemned man. When Black left he was instructed to leave his tears behind when he came again, the prisoner remarking: "Don't come down here crying again. It makes me feel bad." To a visitor at the jail one of the prisoners expressed a hope-ful view of their case, and added, "We'll come out all right yet."

COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT BUTLER

Demia Society's Exercises-President's Reception Last Evening-Class Day To-Day.

Yesterday morning, at 10 o'clock, the Demia Butler Literary Society gave its thirteenth annual spring exhibition. The following programme was rendered: Oration, "The Popular Voice," by Miss Belle Ward; declamation, Miss Howard; "That Waltz of Von Weber's," essay, Miss Julia Fish: "Conversation-A Neglected Art." Miss Harriet Noble presented the society's diplomas to its four graduates, Misses Butler, Fish, Thomas and Ward. Delightful music was furnished by the Schumann Quintet Club of the Indianapolis School of Music. Scenes from a translation of Racine's "Athalie" were presented with great suc-cess and finish. Miss Mayme Atkinson showed unusual ability in her presentation of the character of Queen Athaliah. Yesterday evening a large number of Butler students, alamni and college friends enjoyed the hospitality of President and Mrs. Butler. This evening the Alumni Association of Butler University will have their annual banquet, to be served in the gymnasium. This morning is class day and is always considered a red-letter day of commencement week. Exercises begin at 10 o'clock this morning. To-morrow morning, at 10, Governor Porter will deliver the commencement address in the chape!, followed by the presentation of diplomas to this year's graduates. Governor Leaves for the Fair.

Governor Matthews left last night for Chicago, and his family will follow him today in a private car over the Monon. Nearly all the State officers will leave today, in order to be ready for the dedicatory services at the Indiana building. Private Secretary Myron D. King returned yesterday from the fair. He was rather disappointed with the exhibit made by the Indiana people, and thinks there are a number of very strong features that were overlooked. The wonderful stonequarries of the State are represented by small blocks of stone, while Pennsylvania and other States have built huge monuments and arches out of the coal and othermin-erals of the States. The idea is that the exhibit of resources is too much after the plan of an agricultural fair.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

Question of Taking a Hand in Politics-Will Try to Remedy the Wine-Room Evil.

The first executive meeting of the second year of the Local Council was held yesterday afternoon at the Propyleum. Mrs. J. R. Nichols, president, was in the chair, and Mrs. John A. Holman acted as secretary

Mrs. Nichols introduced the work of the afternoon by speaking of the congress of women held in Chicago. The report of the last annual meeting (which was also the first) was read, and then those present gave their names and the societies they represented. The Free Kindergarten, Mrs. E. G. Wiley; Central W. C. T. U., Mrs. J. R. Wood; the Society of Hygiene, Dr. Rachel Swain; German Literary Club, Mrs. C. M. Walker; Ocassia, Mrs. Henney; Roberts Park Missionary Society, Mrs. C. A. Van Anda; Over the Teacups, Mrs. D. L. Wood; Second Presbyterian Y. L. M. S., Miss Agnes Dilks; M. S. and Social Circle of the Woodruft-avenue United Presbyterian Church, Mrs. J. P. Cowen; Flower Mission, Mrs. W. J. McKee; Missionary Society of Edwin Ray Church, Mrs. A. P. Shawyer; Woman's Club and Sanitary Society, Mrs. J. A. Holman; Fortnightly Literary Club, Mrs. Solomon Claypool; Christ Church Guild, Mrs. Nichols, and there were several societies represented by two or three persons. The Sanitary Society, Over the Teacups, Colored Orphans' Home and Christ Church Guild have joined the council since the last meeting. Nearly every society of last year has continued its membership and the Council is thoroughly established and is one of the advantages for the city to have. After the preliminaries the first matter considered was that of having a woman or women on the School Board and in other municipal affairs, and it was earnestly argued. Mrs. Henney, an English woman, recited the work done in London and the part taken by Mrs. Florence Fenwick Mil-To secure this it was deemed best to begin an agitation in the Local Council.

Another question of vital importance which was feelingly discussed was that of wine rooms. One spoke of the direful experiences she had known about in localities where her charitable works had taken her. So earnest was she that the Council decided to take hold of the matter as an organization, and a committee consisting of Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Wiley and Mrs. J. R. Wood was appointed to present the matter to the City Council, and appeal for a removal of the wine which lead to gambling. drinking and worse. Another member presented the matter of having penal and reformatory departments of the woman's reformatory entirely seperate and distinct institutions, the great plea being that many who are not criminals are sent there, and forever after have to bear the stigma. No action was taken, but the seed was sown, so that by the seed was sown, so that by the time the Legislature meets, two years hence, popular feeling may be such in regard to the question that definite and satisfactory measures may be taken, and the State's women incorrigibles may not be considered one and the same as the women criminals. Mrs. Nichols expressed the hope that some noted persons in the World's W. C. T. U., King's Daughters and literary clubs, who would be in Chicago, might be brought to this city. The only definite action of the meeting was in regard

Interesting Paper Before the Medical Bociety -Elected to The Orphans' Home Staff.

Dr. C. R. Schaefer, before the Marion County Medical Society last evening, read a very valuable and interesting paper upon the subject of Asiatic cholera, detailing its history, etiology, symptoms, post-mortem appearances, prognosis and treatment. The paper was referred to the committee on publication for consideration.

Dr. Robert Hessler presented an extended note upon the geographical distribution of

According to Dr. Hart, if we drink boiled water during an epidemic there is no danger of taking the disease.

Upon request of the board of managers of the Indianapolis Orphans' Home two physicians were elected to take the places of Drs. A. L. Wilson and E. D. Moffitt, who have served for three years and desired to be discharged. Drs. J. E. Virden and G. W. De Hass were appointed in their places and,

TO VIEW THE BIG PARADE.

Plans the Encampment Committee on Grand Stands Has Under Contemplation.

The encampment committee on grand stands met last night in the executive rooms and discussed the business which they have in charge. As yet no definite plans have been worked out, from the fact that the illuminating committee has secured most of the available space on the principal streets. Until a conference with this body has been held the committee on stands will remain undecided as to its future course. Profiting by the experience of other cities where national encampments have been held, the committee is impressed with the plan of erecting several thousand seats on the line of parade and selling them at $2 and $3 apiece. The most favorable locations now spoken of are the courthouse and Statehouse sidewalks, over which may be erected stands with an eight foot space below for the ac-comodation of pedestrians. It is also the intention to build a stand at the corner of Meridian and Washington streets, from which the commander-in-chief will review the parade. Pennsylvania and Meridian streets, opposite the Blind Asylum, are to be utilized in furnishing the school children a sight of the parade, and also for the use of disabled veterans who may visit the

CUT THE FEE IN HALF.

Driving Park Association Reduces the Admission to the Races-Last Night's Meeting.

The Indianapolis Driving Park Association has decided to reduce the admission fee for the July races at the fair grounds. and this season it will only cost 50 cents to see the fast trotters and pacers, while last year it cost $1 to see the same sight. An informal meeting of the association was neld at the Grand Hotel, last night, and arrangements made to send representatives to Ohio to secure entries of time horses for the July meeting.

Mr. Smith Graves says there will be 500 horses at the track when the July meeting begins. There are three hundred or more of the flyers now quartered at the fair grounds. The reduction of the admission fee is in line with the association's plan of popularizing trotting and pacing races in Indianapolis.

Conservatism Wins and the Secession Sentiment Is Defeated.

They Will Translate the Rituals, However, with or Without Permission-Blakewell Severely Censured.

If Supreme Chancellor Wm. Blakewell ever dreamed that the German Knights of Pythias lodges would submit to having their rituals taken away from them without loud remonstrance that dream will be dispelled. Yesterday, just before adjournment, the German brethren, as a final stroke, passed a resolution unanimously which speaks for itself:

Resolved. That this organization shall be permanent, and that its location shall be in Chicago. That it shall be the duty of the executive officers of the organization to maintain correspondence between the different lodges, and in case of any difficulty any other lodges may have with their respective Grand Lodges or the Supreme Lodge. then the organization shall at once employ the most eminent legal counsel and at once take the matter into court with the determination that the Supreme Court of the United States, if nec-essary, shall finally decide it.

The president shall appoint a committee of one in each State to represent this organization and take all necessary steps in case a lodge is suspended to investigate matters. An executive committee of three shall be appointed, with the president added to it, to present the demands of the German lodges before the Supreme Lodge, and it shall be the duty of that committee to supervise all legal steps taken.

It was evident from the start that the delegates were consolidated on the idea of coming out boldly for their point at all hazards. After this resolution had passed, however, and the permanent organization had been effected, a resolution was passed declaring that in case no action had been taken by the Supreme Lodge after ninety days all work of the lodges would be transacted in the German language, regardless of consequences. By the conservatives it was seen that too much was at stake for them to simply secede. Their interests in the lodge were too great. Besides, that might be the end to which the Supreme Chancellor was trying to force them, and so it is agreed that on no account will they secede, unless they recive from the K. of P. lodge all that they have paid into its treasury. Believing that the Supreme Court will, if called upon, decide in their favor, such a policy was suggested by the committee of nine.

All the delegates seen were strongly of the opinion that the Supreme Lodge will not decide against them in 1894, as the vote on the question was so close at the last ses-sion, when many of the German sympa-thizers had gone from the meeting. Cer-tainly the supreme chancellor received the qualified sentiment in these further resolutions, which were adopted unanimously, and which more conservatively view the

Resolved. That we hereby solemnly and law-fully protest against the action of the Supreme Lodge, K. of P., of the World at its last session, held in Kansas City. Mo., in taking from us, with-out notice or consent, the use of the ritual in our own language, a right vested in us by charters granted us through our several Grand Lodges under the control and provisions of the Supreme Lodge, and that we hereby ask that such portion of the law be abrogated, and restore to us the privileges previously enjoyed.

Resolved, That as true, loyal, and law-abiding members of the Knights of Pythias we have been grossly abused and misrepresented by the Supreme Chanceller during his official visitations made to the several Grand Lodges in session assembled, which said remarks were both vicious and offensive in their nature, totally uncalled for and unbecoming a true Pythian Knight. Resolved further, that if our request asked for in the first resolution be not granted by the supreme chancellor during the recess of the Supreme Lodge, or by special session of the Supreme Lodge within ninety days from date, then we shall take the privilege of translating such portions of the ritualistic work as will enable us to enjoy our provious privileges abrogated in legislation previous privileges abrogated in legislation.

An immediate assessment of $5 per lodge was made to defray expenses, and the executive board was authorized to levy any assessments necessary to carry out the assessments necessary to carry out the esolutions of the convention. It is stated that a number of these lodges have large reserve funds in their treasuries that will be used, if necessary, in the fight. That translation of the ritual made might be uniform the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That in case no action has been taken by the Supreme Lodge within ninety days from date then the secretary of this convention shall cause the ritual to be translated, copied and have one copy forwarded to each lodge. The convention on the whole is described by one who witnessed the proceedings as one of the most intelligent bodies of men he had ever seen. There was scarcely any

AMENITIES OF A TENEMENT HOUSE.

Mrs. Bell and Miss Reece Obtain Large Tufts of Each Other's Hair During a Social Seance.

Mrs. Nora Bell, residing at No. 16 Malott avenue, has a decidedly unfavorable opinion of the neighbors in the block where she and her husband and little girl have taken rooms. The Bells came in from the country a few weeks ago, and, in lieu of more select quarters, moved into apartments adjoining William Reece and his sisters. Mrs. Bell, somewhat exclusive in her manner of making acquaintances, has, it seems, held herself aloof from the Reeces until yesterday, when she cultivated the entire family in a way not in the least to her taste.

The little daughter of Mrs. Bell, while playing about the block, succeeded in arousing the ire of William Reece, who was spoiling for a "furss," and ran to her mother with the complaint that Reece had slapped her. Mrs. Bell took up the trouble in her daughter's behalf, and warned Wilham to keep his hands to himself. The fine sensibilities of the latter declined to brook the insult offered him by his neighbor in the tongue lashing which she gave him, and he informed Mrs. Bell that he was too gallant to strike woman, but would send his sister out, who would fix matters. The sister came, with two hundred pounds of palpitating flesh, and pounced upon Mrs. Bell with the fury of a tigress. Reece stood by and critically eyed the women as they pulled each other's hair out in great tufts. Finally the fight grew too warm for Miss Reece, and her brother stepped in, followed by the other members of the family. Mrs. Bell managed to escape, and fled to police headquarters, where she exhibited a swollen and braised countenance and a black eye. Reece was arrested.

The German-American Building and Loan Association, of New Albany, reports $52,500 in stock subscribed. The Ingalls Zine Company is to operate a plant at the new town of logalis. The capital stock is $100,000, and the directors are H. S. Fargo, George E. Petter, Oscar Potter, W. S. Potter and H. L. Perry.
